

Second annual Best Southwest Energy Efficiency Trade Show slated for April 21

LANCASTER, Texas — Just because the cost of energy continues to increase, doesn't mean that your utility bills have to. On April 21, you can learn more about the increasingly popular concept of green building and how simple it can be to introduce energy saving devices into your home.

The Cedar Valley College Center at Cedar Hill, in conjunction with the Cedar Valley College Energy Efficient Green Building Institute and The Home Depot, is proud to present the second annual Best Southwest Energy Efficiency Trade Show on April 21 from 8 a.m.–2 p.m. This free event will feature workshops, exhibitor tables, demonstrations and giveaways all devoted to green building and energy conservation. In addition, Jim Sargent, National Builder of the Year, will speak at 11 a.m. on how he built a home that doesn't have an energy bill.

The trade show will be held in The Home Depot parking lot located at 373 E. FM 1382 in Cedar Hill. For more information on this exciting event, contact the Cedar Valley College Center at Cedar Hill at 972-860-7800.
